WRITING

Read the extract below. It is part of a newspaper article on the loss of national and cultural identity, in which readers were asked to send in their opinions. You decide to write a letter responding to the points raised and expressing your own views.

Write your answer in 120 - 150 words in an appropriate style.

Do not write any postal address.

We are losing our national and cultural identity. Because recent advances in technology and the easy availability and speed of air travel, different countries are communicating more often and are therefore becoming more and more alike. The same shopping malls and fast food outlets can be found almost everywhere. So can the same types of office blocks, motorways, TV programmes and even lifestyles. How can we maintain the traditions that make each nation unique?

Dear newspaper editors,

As a dedicated reader and a concerned citizen I couldn't miss an opportunity to give my own opinion on such an important topic. The loss of national and cultural identity is the tragedy of our generation. However, I do not agree with all points of your article. I do not think that the availability of air travel and communication between different countries are the main factors. To maintain the traditions that make each nation unique it's important to have an open mind. If one is ignorant to the customs of other people he or she may develop prejudice for other nations. I think that the right way to the security of national identity lies in raising the interest for traditional culture in young people's minds. Love and respect for your country can't go hand in hand with hate for anything foreign. On the other hand, in order to stop the spreading of global brands, country leaders must support their local companies and organisations. If domestic products and traditional culture become accessible, people will treasure their heritage and national identity.

I hope my letter will give your readers some food for thought.
